Lloyd Schneider is a fourth-generation farmer and rancher in northwest Kansas. His family raises dry land crops along with operating a commercial cattle operation which encompasses mother cows through finished feedlot cattle. Lloyd graduated from Kansas State University in 1985 with a bachelor's degree in Animal Science and returned to the family farm. Since then, the farm has more than doubled in size. Greatly due to the vast diversification of businesses Lloyd has started including, custom harvesting, manufacturing, trailer leasing, a logistics company, and a livestock commission company which operates a sale barn. All of these businesses help compliment the original foundation of the farming and ranching business.

Lloyd has been involved and serves on several different boards throughout Kansas and internationally. He still resides on the family farm with his wife, Judy. They have two children. Landon and his wife Macey along with their son, Hazen, who manage the sale barn and also help with the farming and ranching operation. Their daughter, Libby, is a second year veterinary student at Oklahoma State University.
